Talking to the Insurance Company

Don't talk to the insurance company without first talking to a lawyer. The insurance company will try to trip you up and get you to say something that hurts your case.

A photograph of a male doctor with a beard and glasses, wearing a white lab coat, examining the arm of a young woman with long blonde hair. The doctor is looking at the patient's arm with a focused expression. The patient is looking down at her arm. The background is a bright, clinical setting. There are decorative geometric shapes overlaid on the image: a large red number '2' with a hash symbol inside a diamond shape in the top left, and several white diamond shapes scattered across the lower half of the image.

#2

Delaying Medical Care

You need to get to a doctor as soon as you can. Your health will not improve if you do not get medical care right away.

#3

Ignoring Doctor's Advice

Your doctors give you advice to help your recovery. You should follow this advice if you want to start feeling better. Ignoring it won't help your case.

#4

Admitting Guilt

We understand that you may want to say sorry after the accident, but don't ever say it was your fault. Until we investigate, you don't know who was to blame. You never want to be on record saying that it was your fault.

Hiring the Wrong Lawyer

Nothing can ruin your results like working with the wrong lawyer. Find someone who cares about your case. Hire a lawyer who is willing to take your case all the way.
